Symptoms

Of Defective Vision

Many persons have the idea that defective vision manifests itself only in a failure or inability to see clearly, but itching, burning, smarting of the lids, dull pains in the eyes or head, even the back of the head, all come from irregularities in the optical construction of the eyes and may be entirely relieved by correctly fitted glasses.

DR. J. T. JOHNSON Guarantees to correct every case that he undertakes. If your eyes are giving annoyance consult him at once.

THE PROSPEROUS SOUTH.

Been Passing Through an Experimental Period.

Mr. John E. Searles, of New York, and Mr. R. H. Edmonds, of Baltimore, who were in Charlotte last week on their return trip, which covered 7,000 miles and embraced the west and south, reached Baltimore last Friday, and Mr. Searles gave the Sun, of that city, an exceedingly interesting interview with regard to his observations and impressions. We copy from it as follows:

"The south," said Mr. Searles, "has for ten years been passing through an experimental period, in which the mettle of the people and the inherent strength of its position have been undergoing a test. Both have stood the ordeal and demonstrated to the business world the soundness of the whole southern situation. The south is a country of such remarkable natural advantages that it would seem to offer the broadest opportunities for extensive operations in the development of its mineral and timber wealth and the extension of its railroad facilities.

"When the very remarkable combination of advantages possessed by the south in coal, iron, timber and cotton, without counting all of the less striking resources of phosphates, marbles, granites, etc., is taken into account, I can readily believe, as Mr. Edmonds has often said to me, that there is no other country in the world which can duplicate its wealth. Other countries have some of these advantages; some have iron and coal, some have timber, some marbles and granites, but I believe it is fair to say that no other region of the world has them all concentrated in such wealth-creating magnitude as the south.

"Given these resources, and with a favorable climate and a productive soil, both of which the South enjoys, there ought not to be any limit to the possible profitable development of tha country. If England could create its enormous industrial interests, based largely on imported cotton and iron ore, and spending, as she does, about $750,000,000 a year for breadstuffs; if New England, with but few natural advantages, could, by the great energy of its people and the force of circumstances, build up its marvelous industrial prosperity, based upon imported coal, imported iron and imported cotton, what may we not expect of the South now that it has fairly entered upon the broad development of its mineral wealth and its cotton and lumber manufacture?

"A careful study of the business conditions of that whole section, of the spirit of the people, of the splendid progress already made in cotton manufacturing, of the truly marvelous iron and steel-making advantages, as illustrated in Birmingham—and remembering that while Birmingham is necessarily destined to be one of the world's leading metallurgical centres, there are many other points where iron and steel can be profitably manufactured, thus giving assurance of the upbuilding of many other iron cities as the work of development goes on—remembering all these facts, the thoughtful student of business conditions must see that the South has an exceedingly bright future."

This is considerably less than half of the interview. Mr. Searles speaks in detail of the iron interest about Birmingham, of the cotton manufacturing interest of the south, and of the plans of the American Cotton Company, with the advantages of the cylindrical bale. "Looking," says he, "over the whole situation, as I have tried to do, and appreciating something of what the south has already accomplished, and what its many advantages are, I am thoroughly convinced that there are great opportunities in that section for broad and comprehensive development."

No Northern observer has lately given the South more reason for encouragement than has Mr. Searles in this interview.—Charlotte Observer.

THE PACIFIC CANAL AMENDMENT

Failed to Pass, but Will be Earnestly Pressed During the Next Congress—As to Wheelers Pay

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 10—Southern members of congress still in Washington, say that the Pacific cable amendment, which failed during the last days of the session just closed, will almost certainly be enacted into law at the long session, when there will be more time for its consideration. Senator Butler, of North Carolina, who introduced the bill for the building of the cable says that he will press the subject ernestly to the attention of the senate during the next congress, and he thinks there is no doubt but the construction of the cable will be authorized. Southern members of congress, including Senators Pritchard, of North Carolina, Daniel and Martin, of Virginia, Morgan and Pettus, of Alabama, Money and Sullivan, of Mississippi, and others, are favorable to the construction of a cable across the Pacific to Honolulu. Senator Morgan, of Alabama, who so successfully championed the Nicaraguan canal through the senate, believes that the improvements go hand in hand, and constitute the greatest and most important public works presented to congress for many years. The senator, as one of the Hawaiian commissioners is familiar with the subject, and says he thinks the cable will become an absolute necessity, and the senator has no doubt but congress will authorize its construction. Had there been more time to properly consider the matter during the short session, he believes there would have been no doubt of both houses of congress giving their sanction to the cable proposed.

Senator Pritchard, who has been in Washington since the adjournment of the senate and house, in speaking upon the subject the other day said that at the next session he would support the bill of his colleague, for he regards the cable as being of the utmost importance.

Senator Sullivan, of Mississippi, who is also in Washington, expresses himself as favorable to the construction of the cable.

The failure of the bill introduced by Mr. Kitchin for the erection of a public building at Durham, North Carolina, which was earnestly advocated by the members of the North Carolina delegation, is a disappointment. Senator Pritchard stated the other day that the bill would again come before the next congress, and he thinks that Durham will then be provided for. The senator said there was no more reason for refusing to appropriate money for Durham's public building than would have been for two-thirds of the bills for public buildings in other towns which went through both houses without opposition.

There are a large number of applications on file at the war department for the lieutenantcies apportioned to North Carolina. It is the impression at the war department that the appointments will be made from the officers of the volunteer army, although the president is not limited in his choice, and if he sees fit can make the appointments from civil life.

In connection with the refusal of Speaker Reed to sign the pay warrant for General Wheeler, attention is called to the fact that Wheeler has refused to accept pay as a member of congress ever since he accepted a commission in the volunteer army, although every other member who held a commission has not been backward in drawing his salary from the treasury.

James Whitcomb Riley, the Indiana poet, was in Washington last Wednesday. He left that night for Norfolk, where he had an engagement, and will then proceed to Richmond, returning to Washington, where he fills an engagement Monday night.

Ex-Representative Pearson, of North Carolina, called at the White House yesterday afternoon for the purpose of asking for an appointment as Lieutenant for William D. Pritchard, a son of Senator Pritchard, who is now an officer in the First Regiment of Immunes. Mr. Pearson was successful, and soon after he left the White House orders were sent to the War Department to issue the commission to Lieutenant Pritchard.

THE BRITISH GUARDS BAND.

Their Appearance at the College Last Night a Great Event.

The concert by the British Guards Band, at Greensboro Female College last night, was a musical event in this city. Lieutenant Dan Godfrey directs a band of rare excellence and the rendition of well known compositions seemed well nigh perfect. A refined audience, of between six and eight hundred people, attended the concert and time after time twice as many hands were set a-going making a hearty applause.

The band is said to have twenty-two soloists, though, of course, all this number is heard at no one performance. The flute solo by Mr. Redfern was pronounced by many to be the grandest they had ever heard.

Among the most enjoyable pieces rendered by the band were "The Drummer's Dilemma" arranged by Mr. Byrne, who played the difficult part. He used twelve instruments, the band not slacking in the least for him to exchange, though he seemed always ready and waiting and received one of the most enthusiastic encores of the evening.

"England and America" a sort of medley arranged by Lieut. Godfrey, from the patriotic airs of both nations was rendered, for the third time, in the most perfect manner and was, of course, fine. When the band struck "Dixie" hands and feet were not enough and cheers went up from almost every throat, the noise almost drowning the music for awhile.

Dan Godfrey's appearance here will be long remembered and Greensboro is glad of having had him. The band left this morning for Charlotte where they appear tonight.

"Ill fares the land to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay."

It is all right to fight for principle. The only trouble is the man who fights for principle is apt to get killed while the man who stays at home gets both the principal and the interest of the other man's fighting.

It is a matter of genuine regret to lovers of the grand and noble traits of human nature that some people with capacity for doing large and useful things along some lines are so everlastingly small in some other things.

Our sprightly and progressive neighbor, Reidsville, will vote on a proposition to issue bonds for waterworks next Tuesday. Improvement is the motto on all sides and Reidsville has caught a fair share of the inspiration.

While Sampson and Schley, of the navy have been scrapping as to the victory at Santiago and the consequent precedence and Miles and others are conspicuous on account of the embalmed beef (?) scandals the men who were behind the guns on sea and land say but little and should receive the thanks of a grateful public, accordingly.

As we have afore and oftentimes remarked, Greensboro is no longer the little village of a few years ago, and it is time to put away swaddling clothes and dress the city in adult attire. If you have views in regard to how things in the city should be managed, express them. Our columns are always open for communications. The people should be heard.

The Charlotte News says "the president has not yet re-appointed Mr. Ewart, and may save us further trouble with the case." Let us devoutly hope that he will save us further trouble. But suppose he is re-appointed and Butler's wind holds out until the next congress meets! My, my! There won't be any razors flying in the air; but it will be full of fur again for miles around the national capitol.

The Tenth Immunes, colored troops, are losing all the glory won dy the Tenth cavalry at Santiago. A special from Henderson to the News and Observer says: "The Tenth Immunes, a negro regiment under command of Col. Charles L. Jones, passed Henderson today on the Seaboard Air Line going north. They fired into priva'e houses and at school children. Several men were wounded. The officers seemed to have no control whatever over the men." It was a part of this same regiment that committed the devilment at Griffin, Ga., day before yesterday, and we believe another detachment that fired into Mr W. C. Boren's house near this city. These facts are deplorable and will tend to keep alive and fan into greater flame the predjudice still existing against that race. As soldiers the negroes have demonstrated their entire unfitness.

Tobacco From Chatham.

Mr. D. D. Glenn, of Silk Hope, shipped a lot of fine tobacco from this place to Greensboro last Monday. Mr. Glenn goes from Greensboro to Nebraska, where he proposes to make his future home.—Siler City Messenger.

Discovered by a Woman

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Humiliating a Rival.

It is not a mooted question in Persia whether women dress for the eyes of men or those of women, as there only women see women, at parties. In her book, "Through Persia on a Sidesaddle," Miss Sykes, writing of the women of Teheran, the capital of Persia, confesses that even Mohammedan isolation does not prevent women from being envious of other women, if they are dressed better than themselves. She writes:

I was told that many of the fine ladies would give large sums in the European shops of Teheran for any brocade of silk which struck their fancy and would wear it at the next party to which they invited their friends, flaunting the new toilet ostentatiously before them to fire their jealousy.

Usually, however, one of the guests would pay her hostess out by buying some more of the same material and having it made up for one of her slave women. She then would invite a large company to tea, and the cups would be handed round by a negress adorned in the rich silks with which the former hostess is arrayed.

Later on the slave would dance before the guests. The great lady, who had been invited to be mortified, would be both disappointed and humiliated. The lady who had given the party would be pleased at vexing the rival.

Food In Siberia.

So hard is food frozen in Siberia during the winter that carcasses of sheep can only be divided by ax and saw. Fish caught through holes in the ice freeze while they jump. Eggs are as hard as flints. I have carried them in a sack over my horse's back.

The rivers of Siberia abound with excellent fish, among these a beautiful kind of grayling and the incomparable sterlet, quite the most delicious fish I know. While descending the Yenisei we caught a gigantic sturgeon, yielding many poods of coarse black caviare, a dainty highly esteemed. Sturgeon cutlets, with wild chervil for flavoring, are delicious. Quails and dabchicks are a favorite broil for second breakfast. The bread I found dark, hard and sour, but sustaining. A great deal of vodki is drunk, but it is both perilous and nauseous on account of the fusel oil it contains. Kwass in summer time is refreshingly acid, and, drunk from a small oaken bowl, it is better than cider.

Tea is taken at every meal, but is very weak. Brick tea is detestable. The stamped bricks are used as money till they are worn and dirty. They are then made into a kind of broth. All sorts of abominations are flung into it. The Khirgis have an insatiable appetite for brew "thick and slab," impossible to western palates.

Helen Irving's Tragic Death.

The tragic story of the beautiful and talented Scottish woman, Helen Irving, is not, perhaps, well known, although it has been celebrated in song. She had been for some time courted by two gentlemen whose names were Bell and Fleeming. Bell told the girl that if he ever found her in Fleeming's company he would kill him. She, however, had a strong regard for Fleeming, and one day, while walking along the romantic banks of the Kirtle, she observed his rival on the other side of the river among the bushes.

Conscious of the danger her lover was in, she passed between him and his enemy, who, firing, shot her dead. Fleeming crossed the river and killed the coward. A heap of stones was raised on the place where the brave woman fell, and she was buried in the near churchyard. Fleeming, overwhelmed with love and grief, went abroad, but soon returned and, stretching himself on her grave, expired. He was buried by her side.

A Lucky Hairdresser.

The old saying that a man may be a hero to every one but his valet is called to mind by an article in The Illustrated London News on "Famous Masters of the Tonsorial Art," in which stories are told of Duplan, the hairdresser to Napoleon. This astute man made himself so indispensable to the unfortunate Josephine and became so intimately acquainted with the emperor's affairs that he was retained in the service of the imperial family when Josephine was superseded by Marie Louise. He cared for the hair of both the emperor and empress, being paid 4,000 francs a year for service to the former and 6,000 for arranging the coiffures of the latter. Ultimately he was the recipient of about 40,000 francs a year, his demands being constantly increased because of Napoleon's restriction in refusing to allow the tonsorial artist to treat the hair of any other customer.

Gazelle Hunting.

Gazelles in Nubia are hunted by a powerful breed of hounds, in build somewhat heavier than a greyhound. In spite of being far swifter than the hound, the gazelle falls a victim from the nervous habit of constantly stopping to look back to see if it is pursued. It also expends its strength by taking great bounds in an almost vertical direction, thereby not only losing time, but exhausting itself, so that it is overtaken without difficulty.—Harper's Weekly

Torpedo Boats.

The average distance of discovery of a torpedo boat by the searchlight from a battleship has been calculated to be 781 yards and the greatest distance 2,000 yards. Thus, taking the distance at which the torpedo can be fired with effect at 500 yards it will be generally found that a torpedo boat will have to cross about 300 yards under fire from the ship she is attacking, and it will take the little craft about half a minute to do this.

Notes of The Prowler

"I have noticed," said the Prowler, when he made his morning call, "that you have advocated good roads and permanent road improvement in season and out of season. What I mean by that is that you have been howling for road improvement in dry weather when the roads are all right, the same as you have in the long rainy spells, when the mud was hub deep. You are not like the fellow who had a leaky house. When the weather was dry he didn't need any better roof and when it was wet he couldn't mend it for the rain.

"I was ruminating about that and after awhile I saw the point, and it is now as plain as daylight when the rays of the noonday sun are turned on full blast. In order to have good roads when they are needed they must be built at a time when they are not needed, to wit: when the weather is dry and the ground in condition to be worked and receive and hold in proper shape the macadam. Keep everlastingly at it.

"But there are lots of fellows who never see a point until they run against it. Sometimes it's sharp and they get hurt. Likewise there are people who never think of the value of good roads until they get stuck in a mud hole. It requires neither brains nor courage to advocate building a bridge when you reach the river which you are compelled to cross and find no other way of getting over."

And the Prowler started away muttering to himself that in view of the depth of the mud on some of our streets he believed it would be cheaper to build boats than to try to fill 'em up with rock. He came back in a few minutes and whispered confidentially that we were all right on the road question but on some others we had better consult a few outside friends before expressing an opinion; because there was danger of incurring the displeasure of people who think they are entitled to a monopoly on opinions as well as the right to dictate to free American citizens what kind of newspapers they shall or shall not have.

CAPT. TUCKER'S DEATH.

Stricken With Apoplexy at Church—He Died Suddenly.

Reidsville, N. C., March 9.—Capt. Thos. Tucker, for sixteen years teller of the Bank of Reidsville, died suddenly last night. He was attending services at the First Baptist church when stricken with apoplexy and died soon after he was carried home.

He was in perfect health, apparently, having been performing his duties at the bank yesterday. He was one of the most popular citizens, a deacon and a great church worker.

Should any sufferer profit by giving Pain Balm a trial it will please me." For sale by C. E. Holton.

As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute," will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Insist vigorously on having it if "something else" is offered you. Howard Gardner

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the Cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off. Ten years have elapsed, and not a sign of the disease has returned."
R. F. WILLIAMS,
Gillsburg, Miss.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

Opening of the Social Season and Inauguration of the Magnificent

New York & Florida Limited Service

JANUARY 16, 1899.

The opening of the Florida season will be signalized this year as usual by the placing in service of the "New York and Florida Limited" between New York and St. Augustine, Fla. This is acknowledged to be the finest train in the world, in its appointments, luxury and detail of finish, and the first of these trains was constructed by the Pullman company for the use of the President of the United States on official tours.

"The New York and Florida Limited" leaves New York daily except Sunday at 11:50 a. m., via the pennsylvania Railroad, the Southern Railway, Florida Central & Peninsular R. R. and the Florida East Coast Railway, and reaches St. Augustine at 2.20 p. m. the following day, making the run, which exceeds 1,000 miles, in little more than twenty-four hours. No train has attracted so much attention, and its fame has been heralded wherever railroading is known. It is composed of Pullman compartment cars, each room being finished in different woods and supplied with private vavatory and toilet; Pullman drawing-room sleeping cars of the latest pattern and finish; a royal club car for the gentlemen; an observation car with a handsome drawing room at its rear opening on to a wide platform; a library car, and dining car, in which the service and the cuisine rank with the finest New York hotels. This "New York and Florida Limited" runs through solid to St. Augustine with the exception of one car which is detached at Columbia, S. C., and goes through to Aiken, which it reaches at 9:35 the next morning after leaving New York, and Augusta at 9:50. Brunswick and Jeckyl Island are conveniently reached by this train at 12 o'clock noon through the perfect connections afforded at Everett, Ga.

There are two other fine trains between New York ond Florida via "The Florida Short Line," one the "Washington and Southwestern Vestibule Limited," leaving New York at 4:20 p. m. daily, and the "United States Fast Mail," leaving New York at 12:05 midnight. The former train carries through Pullman drawing room sleeping cars between New York, Jacksonville and Tampa, and also offers Pullman sleeping car service between New York and Augusta, Ga., with connections for Aiken, Brunswick and Jekyl Island. The latter carries through drawing room sleeping cars between New York and Jacksonville, connecting with parlor car service to points on F. C. & P. R. R. and F. E. C. Ry. Dining cars are operated on all trains of the Southern Ry. "The Florida Short Line" in connection with the Florida East Coast Railway to Miami offers the most direct, quickest and delightful service to Nassau, Havana and Key West. Prevention of Disease.

Mr. Miles Menander Dawson, a consulting actuary and author of standard works on life insurance, says in an interview: "From one-fifth to one-half of the deaths that occur in youth and middle age could be prevented by a decent regard for sanitary conditions and by common action of society for the benefit of all. It is not enough that a man should take care of himself. Disease is communicable, and protecting man against it is a social function.

"Fully one-fifth of the total number of deaths are caused by zymotic diseases which are as purely accidental as falling and breaking a leg. And one-fourth of the deaths in addition are from digestive and respiratory diseases, almost all of which are preventable. About 17 per cent of the deaths among insured lives is from consumption and 5 per cent from nervous diseases, all of which are now believed to be preventable.

"This means that fully one-half of the deaths among young and middle aged persons could be prevented and the proportion could no doubt be greatly increased if parents paid a proper respect to the laws of heredity. It would certainly be a most important achievement for the human race if united action could be taken to secure that a larger proportion of persons would attain old age than at present."—Ainslee's Magazine.

He Did Not Have It.

William Lightfoot Visscher in The Woman's Home Companion tells this characteristic story of the Hon. Isaac Parker, famous as the terrible judge at Fort Smith, Ark., who probably sentenced more men to be executed than any other judge that ever lived. This was not, however, because he was so unrelentingly severe, but because he had the hardest and most numerous lot of criminals to deal with that ever came within the jurisdiction of such an official. One day when there was an unusually large batch of culprits to be sentenced the judge looked compassionately over his spectacles at one young scamp and said

"In consideration of the youth and inexperience of this prisoner I shall let him off with a fine of $50"—

Before the judge had done speaking the very fresh young man coolly stretched his right leg and ran his hand into his trousers' pocket on the side, remarking nonchalantly as he did so

"That's all hunky, judge. I've got that much right here in my jeans."

"And one year in the penitentiary," continued the judge. Then, looking over at the convict in a quizzical sort of way, he added. "Do you happen to have that in your jeans?"

Queer Thing, Chance.

"I was at Monte Carlo last year," said a New York turfman, "and was amused watching the gamblers in the casino playing systems. If red would win, say, four times hand running, everybody would double up on black. The more times one color showed in succession the bigger were the bets on the other, which was mathematically an error, although you couldn't convince a gambler of it. Once while I was there red won 12 times, and over 40,000 francs were staked on black. One lone player had the nerve to put 50 francs on red. It won, and he let the bet lay, and it won again. Then everybody got a sudden idea it would win once more, and it was played to the limit. That time black showed."

"Did you ever hear about runs of color?" asked somebody

"I did over there," replied the man who had been to Monte Carlo. "It is generally believed that when one color wins the odds are in favor of it winning twice more. There's no sense in it, but the records of the game do a good deal to confirm the superstition. Queer thing, chance."

Couldn't Chill His Wit.

Mme. Modjeska and her company were playing one winter in the extreme north, much to the discomfort of Count Bozenta, the Polish star's husband, who hates the chilly northern climate. But at that time the show business was at a very low ebb in the south. One particularly cold day Mme. Modjeska found the count shivering from head to foot in spite of the steam heat in the hotel.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" he implored. "Let us go south for the rest of the season. This climate will kill us."

"But, my dear," replied madame, "the south is dead."

"Yes," said the count, "but she is such a be-autiful corpse."

Time to Wake.

Judge Wheaton A Gray was hearing a criminal case in Fresno, and on a warm day, at the end of a long harangue by the prosecuting counsel, he noticed one of the jurymen asleep. As soon as the argument was completed, the judge addressed the jury in this peculiar manner "Gentlemen of the jury, the prosecuting attorney has completed his argument Wake up and listen to the instructions of the court."—Argonaut

TIBBS WAS ELECTED.

THE FLIGHT OF ORATORY THAT WON HIM A PAGESHIP.

Jimmie Was Not Bashful, and His Early Call on Senator Eldridge Gave That Gentleman an Inspiration In Words That Carried the Day.

Below is printed the noted speech of Senator Eldridge of Shelby in nominating Jimmie Tibbs, the Nashville newsboy, to be page of the senate. Senator Eldridge had made the newsboy's cause his own, though the little fellow came to him unknown, with no stronger supplicancy than the boy's frail yet energetic appearance. Senator Eldridge had notified the senate that the man who voted against Tibbs voted against the senator from Shelby, and the sweetness of revenge would come when the opposing voter wanted the senator's support on a local bill. The speech was as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, I nominate for page Jim Tibbs of Davidson county. There can be no ulterior motive ascribed to this nomination, no railroad passes, no champagne suppers, no political pulls. I come from the muddy Mississippi river and Mr Tibbs from the misty mountain tops of middle Tennessee. Mr. Tibbs has seen ten summers, but many, many winters have shed their snow on his sunny head. His freckled, anxious face is standing there gazing at me now. He is looking up now, but for nearly all his life he has looked down as he has shined the big feet of small men.

"Mr. Speaker, Mr. Tibbs is not here as a supplicant for pity or sympathy Mr. Tibbs is a man and the head of a family Mr. Tibbs has met the dizzy, sinsick world and won out. He has not become as dizzy or as sick as you and I, and, therefore, I will not refer to the humble home of Mr. Tibbs or the old mother who, no doubt, is on her knees praying to Almighty God for Mr. Tibbs. I will not refer to the paralyzed brother who, like myself, knows that Mr. Tibbs cannot fail. But somehow I feel cold when I think of that snowstorm out yonder and how it must rattle the curtainless windows of Mr. Tibbs' residence. And, Mr. Speaker, I somehow do wish that the mother of Mr. Tibbs would kindly mention this great senate in that prayer, for, if she did, I believe it would suit its constituents better, and we would come nearer coming back next time.

"Mr. Tibbs, like myself, has been blown into this senate by the sublimity of luck. Destiny chooses her disciples with unerring aim, and those who oppose Mr. Tibbs are fighting God. I will tell you why I think this. I am stopping at the Tulane hotel, by the faith of the host thereof My wife and baby are with me there. Yesterday morning I had been up very early discussing the question of a new constitution for myself and my state.

"At 6 in the morning Sarah was softly humming to the teething baby, rocking him back to rest, to sleep and to forgetfulness, which is the only rest. The old refrain rose and fell as the nodding of a flower

'Jesus can make a dying bed
Feel soft as downy pillows are,
While on his breast I lean my head
And softly breathe my life out there.

"Knock! knock! 'Come in.' I angrily said, expecting a bellboy

"Mr. Tibbs appeared. He came to the bed and said 'Senator, I am named Tibbs, and I want to be page of the senate. I want you to make the rest of them vote for me, please sir.'

"'Mr. Tibbs. I replied, 'does it not occur to you that you are crowding me somewhat? Don't you think for the kind of a day and the time of day that your visit is not the proper thing?'

"'Well, it is good daylight,' he said, 'and I have been up some time.'

"'Yes, sir, all men should be ready for business by this time,' was my rejoinder, 'but why do you come to me and how did you find me?'

"'I saw you in the Climax saloon yesterday, and Mr. Maddin, the barkeeper, said you were a senator,' came the unhesitating answer.

"I quickly glanced at my wife, the rocking had stopped, and the baby, hearing a strange voice, had ceased his complaint and was sitting up, looking like a jack rabbit in a bed of lilies, all eyes and ears.

"I said, 'Mr. Tibbs, I must ask you to excuse me, I will call on you later.'

"'Yes, sir. I will see you,' he replied, and went away.

"Sarah turned her head and said, 'Will, I am for Tibbs.'

"Mr. Speaker, I arose and raised the curtain of the window The east seemed flecked with a swarm of golden bees; the sun, that had been away, was knocking at the front door of this planet. Sir, who can tell of the systems and cycles he had smiled upon, of his unspeakable glory and sublimity? The light of this sun will fade by and by. At one time it was born, at one time it must surely die, but, sir, the fire I had seen in the eyes of Jimmie Tibbs will not die. It is older than the sun. It has stood floods of storm and wrath that would quench that sun. One is of today, but the faith, the courage and the hope of Tibbs make us dream again of the immortality of the soul."

Tibbs was elected.—Nashville American.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by C. E. Holton.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—Josh Edgar, Germantown, Cal. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Millions of Fish Freezed.

Norfolk, Va., Mar. 9—The steam yacht Senator, owned by Charles H. Fuller, a wealthy resident of Providence, R. I., arrived here this afternoon from the North Carolina sounds, after having been frozen in during the big blizzard. Some little anxiety had been felt for the party, but Mr. Fuller stated today that they had plenty of food and fuel aboard and did not suffer. He also reported that during the storm millions of fish froze to death, and that as soon as the ice broke they floated to the surface, and when he left the natives were gathering them by the thousands. The Senator goes from here up the James river, after which the yacht will go by easy stages to her home port, New Haven.

I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours. M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

The graceful, delicate and exceedingly neat compliment paid Lieutenant Dan Godfrey and his British Guard Band by the Marine Band of the United States at Washington, D. C, is one to be remembered by the gentlemen in scarlet.

Federal Court Talk.

The next term of Federal court, scheduled to convene here on the first Monday in April, looked at from a distance, is all in a muddle. In the first place, unless President McKinley reappoints Judge Ewart or appoints his successor a judge will have to be borrowed and in the second place, there is some doubt about the special term of court in Asheville being finished by that time. If not it is likely that the regular term here will be postponed.

MRS. HOUSEKEEPER:

Please permit us to ask you a very pointed question: Have you a Universal Food Chopper? By this we do not mean a meat grinder, but a Chopper, which takes the place of chopping bowl and beater.

It chops meat, of course, but it does more. You can chop ham, cocoanut, or bread instead of grating it. You can—but we can't tell it all here. Our booklet gives full information Free. You will have use for it every day in the year. It is very simple and very cheap. Please call and let us show it to you. Yours truly,

The Level of the Shoes Always Maintained

A week filled with the fervor of our matchless price making.

An Advertisement every line of which tells of money saving—from a store whose creed is to undersell.

Large type does not make shoe values. Shoes such as we show this week at $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00 are not shown elsewhere.

Cash and economized expense makes the impossible elsewhere profitable here. Constantly increasing clientage shows growing appreciation of our shoe values.
